Drug and alcohol addiction treatment at Beaches Recover offers a dual focus on both evidence-based and holistic therapies. Recovery programs provide a variety of options that help you overcome your addiction while addressing underlying mental disorders.

Our licensed therapists have the training and experience necessary to help you recover from both alcohol and drug addiction. Treatment specialists monitor your success as you experience personal growth throughout your treatment. If you need help with your addiction and do not know where to turn, a drug and alcohol addiction treatment center in Jacksonville, FL may be a good first step.

What Services Do We Offer?

Our drug addiction treatment center offers a path to full recovery from addiction. You can choose from a wide range of services such as:

- Drug and alcohol detox
- Men's and women's mental health treatment
- Outpatient detox
- Residential drug rehab
- Professionals drug rehab
- Addiction aftercare

Therapists target the underlying issues that led to your substance abuse. By addressing the real issues, you can achieve life-long sobriety. A treatment specialist can guide you through your treatment and provide therapy that heals your mind, body, and spirit.

"I cannot say enough good things about Beaches Recovery. My daughter was there last year and they gave her life back to her. This place is awesome and the people who work there truly care about the patients they have. I would recommend Beaches to anyone who has an addiction, they can help! My daughter loves the people there and keeps in touch, she has 15 months clean from heroin now and it is all thanks to Beaches and their amazing staff!"

Drug and Alcohol Detox

A medical detox program allows your body to heal by ridding itself of all drug or alcohol toxins. While this process is a good thing, it can also cause discomfort, anxiety, and even physical pain. You may experience withdrawal symptoms depending on the circumstances of your addiction.

Our drug and alcohol addiction treatment center offers a safe and caring environment that provides as much comfort as possible during detox. A medical detox program provides medication-assisted treatment, monitoring, and support during this challenging time. You may also receive additional care such as therapeutic massage and acupuncture to add to your comfort.

If you can get through your withdrawal symptoms, then you are well on your way to a successful recovery.

Comprehensive Treatment for Addiction

An inpatient treatment center provides a structured and supportive environment where you can focus on your recovery without distraction. You may view inpatient treatment as controlling and cold. While there are some rules to follow, there are also lots of opportunities for reflection, free time, and relaxation. You can engage in meaningful activities, stimulating therapy sessions, and a luxury atmosphere at our drug and alcohol addiction treatment center.

Comprehensive Treatment for Addiction

Co-occurring disorders are common in addiction. Over 60% of teens in substance use treatment also have symptoms of another mental health disorder. As such, facilities offer additional care for mental disorders such as:

- Alcohol abuse and addiction
- Illicit and prescription drugs including opioids
- ADHD and bipolar disorder
- Anxiety, stress, and depression
- Anger management
- Family therapy

Through dual diagnosis, a therapist can identify what type of mental health issues you have and provide a more well-rounded treatment for both the disorder and the addiction.
